Election/Restriction

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-6, drawn to a DNA encoding Msel restriction endonuclease, cloning vector, host cell and method of producing the Msel endonuclease, classified in class 435, subclass 320.1.
- II. Claims 7-15, drawn to a method for producing a target restriction endonuclease, classified in class 435, subclass 69.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the Msel coding region can be used as probe to identify additional Msel genes from other organisms.

Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions involve two separate methods for producing restriction endonucleases with each method involving unrelated method steps. The method of Group I involves a specific restriction endonuclease (Msel) while the invention of Group II is directed to any restriction endonuclease and a search of Group I would not be co-extensive with a search of Group II and hence said search would be burdensome. Each Group is capable of supporting a separate patent.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
